

First up in London will be Riccardo Tisci, onetime Givenchy darling, favorite of Kardashian-Jenners everywhere, who returns to the catwalk with men's and women's wear after a year and a half away, this time to reimagine Burberry after the departure of Christopher Bailey.